

Dear Zellwood Station Golfers,

Over the next few months you will be noticing large construction equipment shaping four new holes on some undeveloped strips of land throughout the front nine of the golf course. The project in its entirety should take just under a year and should be ready for play in the summer of 2009. These four holes will be replacing the existing numbers 2-5. In doing so, the designer of the new holes has configured a layout that will be top notch. With some added length and new challenges, Zellwood Station promises to be bolder and more beautiful than before. Zellwood Station will also be boasting an all new 15,000 square foot practice facility used for sharpening your short game in all facets.

During the construction period Zellwood Station Golf Course will NOT close for any reason. The construction will be done in a manner that will not interrupt play at all. If there are any questions that arise during the construction process please feel free to contact myself Christopher C. Tyler, Head Golf Professional and I will answer and keep all your questions up to date as we complete our "Amazing Four" new holes.

Respectfully Yours,

Christopher C. Tyler
